- The withhold directory flag will be put on the academic record whenever the student requests it during the semester; however, we cannot be responsible for any information released after the census date but prior to receipt of form in the Registrar's Office.
- The withhold directory flag remains in effect until the student requests in writing that it be removed.
FERPA gives certain rights to parents regarding their children's educational records.

- Rights transfer to the student:
  - Upon reaching 18 years of age or
  - Attending any school beyond the secondary level (High School).

When may a parent access a student's educational records?

- Law allows parental access if student is claimed as a dependent for Federal income tax purposes.
- Access is granted to both the parent who claims the student as well as the parent who is not claiming the student.
- Parent must complete Parental Request for Academic Information (available in the Registrar's Office or academic department) each time information is requested.
To avoid violating FERPA rules, do not do any of the following:

- Use a part of or the entire student identification number or Social Security number of a student in a public posting of grades
- Link the name of a student with that student’s identification number or Social Security number in any public manner
- Leave graded tests in a stack for students to pick up by sorting through the papers of all students
- Circulate a printed class list with student name and student identification number, or Social Security number or grades, as an attendance roster
- Discuss the progress of a student with anyone other than the student (including parents) without the consent of the student
- Provide anyone with lists of students enrolled in your classes for any commercial purpose
- Provide anyone with student schedules or assist anyone other than college employees in finding a student on campus
How can a parent access student information if the student is not being claimed by either parent for Federal income tax purposes?

- Parent can have access only if the student is willing to release information.
- Student must complete Student Consent for Release of Records (available in the Registrar's Office or academic department) each time information is to be released.
